

CHARLES
UNIVERSITY

SORBONNE
UNIVERSITÉ

UNIVERSITY
OF WARSAW

UNIVERSITÄT
HEIDELBERG
ZUKUNFT
SEIT 1386

NARODOWA AGENCJA WYMIANY AKADEMICKIEJ

Academic Partnership for Innovation in Teaching and Learning (API)
within the International Academic Partnership Programme of the Polish National Agency for Academic Exchange (NAWA)

Online Summer School Sociology of Elites: Case Studies and Methods

Organizer:

Robert B. Zajonc, Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw

Date and format:

- 30 September – 15 October 2021; 2 days per week (6 days altogether plus voluntary individual consultations): 30 Sept.–1 Oct., 7–8 Oct., 14–15 Oct.
- Online (via Zoom)

Aims and topics:

The aim of the online summer school “Sociology of Elites: Case Studies and Methods” is to acquaint attendees with the theoretical and methodological apparatus used in sociological research about elites, including Polish sociologists’ recent works concerning these topics. It will also equip them with practical knowledge and competences in selected methods employed in elite studies. Additionally, participants will be given the opportunity to consult with the school’s instructors on an individual basis regarding their own research projects.

Target audience:

Doctoral students and young researchers (e.g., those planning a Ph.D.) in social sciences interested in elite studies or/and in Central and Eastern Europe. Given that the school program includes practical exercises, basic knowledge of the R programming language and software is required.

Short description:

The course will introduce participants to the study of elites. This comprehensive and diverse program consists of two parts. The first includes a presentation and discussion of recent and ongoing research concerning cultural, economic, and expert elites in Poland. While the scholars conducting seminars based on their empirical research have been informed by several theoretical and methodological approaches, a special emphasis will be put on Pierre Bourdieu’s field analysis. Apart from a general introduction to the field theory, the summer school program includes seminars dedicated to an introduction to one of the fundamental research methods used in the frame of field analysis – Multidimensional Correspondence Analysis.

Seminar topics:

- Introduction to Pierre Bourdieu’s field analysis: concepts and research methods
- Historical analysis of the field of power in Poland
- The Intelligentsia as a specific Central European type of elite
- Polish universities during the communist period: an attempt to create a new elite
- The 1989 transformation and development of the field of think tanks in Poland
- Historical policy as a part of elites’ struggles and their legitimization efforts
- Business elites in Poland and Central Europe after 1989

CHARLES
UNIVERSITY

SORBONNE
UNIVERSITÉ

UNIVERSITY
OF WARSAW

UNIVERSITÄT
HEIDELBERG
ZUKUNFT
SEIT 1386

NARODOWA AGENCJA WYMIANY AKADEMICKIEJ

Confirmed instructors:

- Dr. Hanna Dębska, Institute of Law and Economics, Pedagogical University of Krakow
- Prof. Rafał Smoczyński, Polish Academy of Sciences
- Dr. Michał Łuczewski, Institute of Sociology, University of Warsaw
- Prof. Tomasz Zarycki, Robert B. Zajonc Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw
- Dr. Andrzej Turkowski, Robert B. Zajonc Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw
- Dr. Tomasz Warczok, Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, Pedagogical University of Krakow
- Dr. Agata Zysiak, Robert B. Zajonc Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw

The second part of the school will be oriented towards learning and practicing research methods, particularly social network analysis and biographical (prosopographical) analysis. The workshop module on network analysis and prosopography will encompass both the introduction and explanation of the key notions and techniques, as well as exercises aimed at teaching students practical skills that could be further used in their research.

Confirmed instructors:

- Dr. Valentin Behr, SAGE, University of Strasbourg
- Mikołaj Biesaga, Robert B. Zajonc Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw
- Szymon Talaga, Robert B. Zajonc Institute for Social Studies, University of Warsaw

Application process:

Applicants are asked to send their CV, a letter of recommendation from their supervisor, and a short (1 page) description of their research up to 24 September to the following email address: andrzej.turkowski@uw.edu.pl

Certification:

A certificate of attendance will be delivered to each participant who completed the program.

Contact: andrzej.turkowski@uw.edu.pl